There are 132 islands in the Hawaiian chain, although most people only think of the eight main islands. This makes Hawaii the largest land mass mountain range in the world.

Hawaii is the only place in the world where Pacific blue marlin can be caught year round.

Did You Know?

Hawaii is the fourth smallest state in the United States. Delaware, Rhode Island, and Connecticut are smaller.

Hawaii is the most isolated chain of islands on Earth.

The biggest waves in the world can be found on Oahu's North Shore.

The largest privately-owned cattle ranch in the United States is Parker Ranch on the Big Island of Hawaii.

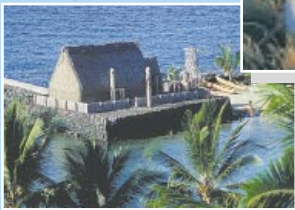

Hawaii's average daytime air temperature at sea level ranges from 78 to 85 degrees F.

There are approximately 283 beaches and 75 golf courses in the State of Hawaii.

The temperature at the summit of Haleakala on Maui can be 30 degrees cooler than at the beach.

There are over 75 scuba diving sites along the Kona Coast on the Big Island of Hawaii.

Underwater visibility in Hawaii can often exceed 100 feet. Water temperature ranges from 74 to 80 degrees F.
